Dredging

- 1 Mechanical dredging of the inner harbour will take place on spring tides at low water.
- 2 While dredging operations are being progressed Under Keel clearance may change rapidly in some areas, while other areas of the seabed may not meet chartered depths.
- 3 Shifting sands will always increase risk to the charted depth, but if LDLs are calculated correctly by the master this risk will be limited.
- 4 Vessels are to proceed with caution when transiting the inner harbour.
